HENNESSY TROPHY COMPETITION

The Hennessy Trophy Awards Program was established to promote the highest standards of food service throughout the Air Force. The Air Force Hennessy Awards serve to recognize and commend those Air Force bases which excel in the management, preparation, and service of food to their personnel. The competition and the awards were established to accomplish three essential purposes:

To improve food service preparation, serving techniques, sanitation, and management throughout the Air Force.

To raise and maintain the morale of food service personnel performing what, in many cases, is considered a chore, far removed from the glamour of flying and fighting.

To encourage the development and training of skilled Air Force food service personnel through competition.

The competition for this recognition of excellence is divided into two main categories plus a third special award category limited to the Air Force Reserve. The first of the two competitive categories is the Single Unit Facility Category. Competition in this category is among bases having 90% of their meals served in one dining facility. The other category is the Multiple Unit Facility Category. This category includes bases having more than one dining facility that are not limited by the criteria for a Single Unit Facility base.

The special award is made each year to the Air Force Reserve. This award recognizes the increasingly important role played by the Reserve in the total Air Force mission. The Reserve commitment to provide quality service and properly prepared food is a key element in the Air Force's Total Force Program.

The bases that compete in each of these categories are selected as the best in their major command (such as the Strategic Air Command or Military Airlift Command). This competition is extremely keen. Only the best make it to the final competition.

HISTORY OF THE PROGRAM

MR. JOHN LAWRENCE HENNESSY

The Hennessy Program was named in honor of Mr. John Lawrence Hennessy, one of the nation's most capable and respected hotel/restaurant executives. Mr. Hennessy's illustrious career in the hotel and restaurant industry eminently qualified him in all aspects of food service operations. Because of these talents, during and subsequent to World War II, he received presidential appointments to high level advisory boards and task groups established to improve the efficiency and economy of the military food services. Needless to say, he served his nation with distinction.

Mr. Hennessy was particularly helpful to the U.S. Air Force with his advice and assistance in solving food service problems of facility design, training and monetary management. In fact, at the time of his death in 1955, he was deeply involved with plans for the cadet dining facility at the United States Air Force Academy. Therefore, when the Air Force established its food service competition in 1957, it was logical and fitting to dedicate the program in his name and recognize Mr. Hennessy's selfless devotion to the advancement of military food service.

GUEST SPEAKER

LEO MARQUEZ

Lieutenant General, USAF

Lieutenant General Leo Marquez is deputy chief of staff for logistics and engineering, Headquarters United States Air Force, Washington, D.C.

General Marquez was born January 27, 1932, in Peralta, N.M., and graduated from Belen (N.M.) High School in 1949. He received a bachelor of science degree in zoology from New Mexico State University in 1954 and a master of science degree in business administration from George Washington University, Washington, D.C., in 1967. In 1978 he was named a distinguished alumnus from New Mexico State University. The General has also completed Air Command and Staff College at Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama. His military career began in 1954 when he entered active duty as a second lieutenant. In 1956 he completed pilot training at Greenville AFB, Miss., and for the next six years he served in various flying assignments. After transferring to McChord AFB, Wash., in 1962 as a maintenance officer, General Marquez became the commander of the 325th Organizational Maintenance Squadron in 1964. In 1967 he was assigned to Bien Hoa AB, Republic of Vietnam, as a maintenance control officer. In 1968 he was selected for exchange duty with the Canadian Forces in Ottawa, Canada. In 1970 he assumed duties at Headquarters, Tactical Air Command as the F-111 logistics project officer. The General was assigned to Air Force Headquarters in 1977 as deputy director of maintenance engineering and supply. In 1979 he became deputy chief of staff for plans and programs at Headquarters, Air Force Logistics Command. The General served as commander of Ogden Air Logistics Center, Hill Air Force Base, Utah, from 1981 to 1983. He assumed his present duties on 1 August 1983 and was promoted to his current grade the same date.

His military decorations and awards include the Distinguished Service Medal, Legion of Merit with one oak leaf cluster, Bronze Star Medal, Meritorious Service Medal and the Air Force Commendation Medal with one oak cluster. He was selected as Air Force Logistics Command Systems Manager of the year in 1974. In 1977 he was the recipient of the Air Force Association's Executive Management Award.

MULTIPLE UNIT RUNNER-UP

GEORGE AFB, CALIFORNIA

Excellent progressive cooking techniques.....

coupled with strict adherence to standard recipes.....

and detailed attention to storage and inventory....

made George AFB the multiple unit category runner-up.

George AFB, the home of the 831st Air Division, has multiple missions divided between the 35th and the 37th Tactical Fighter Wings (TFW). The 35th TFW provides fighter-bomber combat capability and training to German air crew components as part of the US Foreign Military Sales Program. The 37th TFW performs a defense suppression mission against enemy surface to air missiles and anti-aircraft artillery sites. Together, they provide and train the finest aircrews capable of defense against enemy aggressors. The overall mission is simply: TO FLY, FIGHT, AND WIN.

OUTSTANDING FOOD

SERVICE PEOPLE

The Hennessy Trophy Competition annually recognizes a winner and runner-up in each of the Multiple and Single Unit Categories. To recognize the other bases nominated in competition each year, the respective bases are asked to nominate one enlisted person, or civilian equivalent, as the "Outstanding Food Service Person." These people attend the Hennessy Trophy Awards Ceremony, accept the Hennessy Trophy Nominee Plaques on behalf of each base, and are recognized at the luncheon for their particular efforts in furthering the excellence of food service in the Air Force.

SPECIAL AWARD

Excellence in training and providing quality meals to the reserve force makes the 914th Tactical Airlift deserving winner.....

The mission of the 914th Tactical Airlift Group, Niagara Falls International Airport, is to organize, recruit, and train Air Force reservists, and to provide airlift of airborne forces, their equipment and supplies, and delivery of these forces and materials by airdrop, landing or cargo extraction systems. In addition, the unit aids intra-theater tactical aeromedical evacuation.

Wing/Center Commander	Col L. Paskevicz
Base Commander	Col Robert J. Winner
Chief of Services	Mr. Robert W. Betsch
Food Service Officer	Capt David Bolea, Jr.
Food Service Superintendent	MSgt Jack LoBuglio

THE HENNESSY TRAVELERS ASSOCIATION

Founded 20 years ago, the Hennessy Travelers Association (HTA) is composed of those civilian food service industry representatives and Air Force personnel who have traveled as evaluators for the United States Air Force Hennessy Awards Program. They have continued to provide enthusiastic support of the Air Force in general and Air Force food service in particular, long after the completion of their Hennessy trip.

Initially founded to enhance comradeship among past and present travelers and Air Force personnel who were active in the Hennessy program, The HTA sponsored an annual cocktail party in conjunction with the awards ceremony. In 1979, the National Restaurant Association (NRA) began sponsoring this event by combining it with the NRA President's Reception. To give substance to their collective desire to promote Air Force food service, the HTA established the Award of Excellence in 1983.

Dedicated to military food service persons observed during the Hennessy evaluation who most impressed the evaluators through their attitude, enthusiasm, and desire to excel, the Award of Excellence is presented at the annual HTA meeting. Presented to a single unit and multiple unit category person, the award consists of an appropriately engraved plaque, a $250.00 cash award, and a scholarship to attend an NRA educational seminar.

MAJ GEN CLIFTON D. WRIGHT

Major General Clifton D. Wright, Director of Engineering and Services, Headquarters United States Air Force, has the overall responsibility for engineering and services programs throughout the Air Force. This includes the Air Force Engineering and Services Center (AFESC), under the command of Colonel Jerry A. Smith and vice commander, Colonel Roy G. Kennington.

The overall mission of AFESC is to provide guidance and assistance to major commands and bases in all areas which affect the Air Force environment, its facilities, and the readiness of more than 90,000 engineering and services personnel.

AFESC is also responsible for administering the Air Force Hennessy Awards Program each year. The Housing and Services Directorate, under Lt. Col. Frank Dooley, and Deputy Director, Mr. William E. Morrison tasks the Food Management Division with the Air Force's portion of the program. The Food Management Division is led by Ms. Germaine G. Gotshall.

COL JERRY A. SMITH

Tribute to the Supporting Associations

For 28 years the Air Force and the three leading associations representing the food service industry have collaborated to produce a program of great incentive and motivation to Air Force food service members around the world. The boards and the individual members of the associations have contributed generously to help make the Hennessy Trophy become the premiere awards program in Air Force circles for commendation of excellence. Through the food industry's involvement in the Hennessy program, more emphasis has been placed on professionalism in the USAF food service program. The Air Force is deeply indebted to the National Restaurant Association for their unwavering support and donated expertise that sustain this viable, dynamic means of recognition.

Appreciation is also due the International Food Service Executives Association and the Society for Foodservice Management for without their support through the years the program would not have been possible.

All airmen who have benefited from the Air Force's vastly improved food service program join in expressing their gratitude to the participating associations.
